

SURREY NAMED ONE OF “THE NEXT GREAT FOOD CITIES” BY FOOD AND WINE MAGAZINE

SURREY, BC, April 24, 2023 -- Surrey, British Columbia has been named one of the twelve best emerging cities for food lovers to visit in the world by Food & Wine, and is the only Canadian city to be included in the list.

Listed among the likes of Marseille, Venice, Kanazawa and La Paz, Surrey made the list for the diversity of global cuisines reflected in the city’s rich food culture.

Surrey enjoys a diverse collection of restaurants representing almost every corner of the globe. Home to one of the largest Indian populations in Canada, the city’s restaurants also showcase cuisine from Africa, South America, other parts of Asia and beyond. Visitors to Surrey can explore the culinary scene on the Spice Trail, a self-guided tour laid out over Surrey’s six neighbourhoods and further organized by ethnicity, vegetarian options and style.

“Surrey is known for welcoming people from around the globe”, says Angeline Chew, Executive Director of Discover Surrey, “We are thrilled that Surrey is finally being recognized as an exciting multicultural food destination, and look forward to sharing all the delicious flavours that Surrey has to offer with the world.”

The 12 emerging culinary destinations worth travelling for are featured in the May 2023 travel issue of Food & Wine, on newsstands now, and can be accessed digitally here.
